STATEMENT OF THE INCOME TAX RETURN PREPARER

- 1 The information for preparing items of income, expenses, deductions, exemptions, credits, and other data which appear on this return were supplied to the income tax return preparer by the taxpayer or his agent, and the preparer believes that this information is correct. In cases where the taxpayer has claimed deductions for expenses generally falling within the rules of IRS Section 274 and rulings and regulations attendant thereto, preparer states that either backup documents have been reviewed or that taxpayer has represented to preparer that taxpayer possesses such documentation. The preparer did not perform an audit of the taxpayer's records in connection with the preparation of this return. It is the opinion of the preparer and other qualified preparers that it is not necessary to perform an audit of the taxpayer's records prior to the preparation of the return if the preparer believes the information which has been supplied by the taxpayer is correct.

- 2 It is the practice of the preparer to furnish 2 copies of the return to the taxpayer, one for submission to IRS and one for his records. Also, it is the practice of the preparer to sign the original return and to put his employer identification number on the original return. In the event that the preparer fails to do any one of the above items, then it is due to an oversight. In the event that the preparer does not do any one of the above items, then he will do so upon proper notification.

- 3 This return was prepared based on the understanding of the income tax laws and the rulings and regulations of the Internal Revenue Service. Even though some of the items on this return may be handled contrary to an Internal Revenue ruling or regulation (and from time to time some of Internal Revenue Service's rulings and regulations have been rejected by the courts), it is the preparer's opinion that the manner in which the items have been handled on this return is a correct application of the income tax laws.
