GLWN™ Program - supports regional economic development by making linkages between wind turbine companies seeking to grow in America, manufacturers, suppliers and subcontractors looking to gain new business through participation in the supply chain, and economic development groups that are seeking ways to strengthen their tax base and grow local jobs. GLWN assists in business development and job creation by developing and implementing a comprehensive plan to identify, expand and promote the wind energy supply chain. GLWN was launched by WIRE-Net in 2007 and has grown substantially and has become a force in the U.S. wind industry.

During the school year, WIRE-Net Youth Programs encourage students to pursue life-long learning and earning opportunities which lead to careers related to manufacturing, building and construction, transportation, and information technology. During the summer months, WIRE-Net offers incoming 9th graders a 3-week day orientation camp which introduces incoming freshmen to the unique career tech learning opportunities offered at Max Hayes. WIRE-Net's Youth Programs also work diligently to develop mutually beneficial partnerships between community and business leaders and CMSD administrators and teachers. These partnerships are fostered in order to create learning environments which mirror and respond to industry standards and expectations.
