Part III Statement of Program Service Accomplishments Line 28

Open A Door (OAD) builds female leadership in post-crisis countries by providing low-income, high potential young leaders with a pathway to US college scholarships. Through a team mentoring model, each girl in our program is matched with 5-6 professional US women who help her navigate the scholarship application process, support her while in school and provide valuable networking resources to help her establish her career. As an organization OAD provides in-country SAT test preparation and funds all non-scholarship costs that her family cannot afford such as plane tickets, computers, books, health insurance, phones, dorm supplies and winter wardrobes. With OAD's support, scholars begin unleashing their potential to become a powerful force for change at home.

Currently, OAD's mentoring teams have helped 19 female scholars from Afghanistan and Rwanda win highly competitive scholarships. They're excelling at top-notch universities like Harvard University, Smith College, Oberlin College, Lehigh University, University of California Berkeley, and Bennington College. Our scholars are being accepted into promising internships at places like Partners in Health, Women for Women, and congressional offices. Fortified by this experience, mentoring from a team of professionals, and a college education, students will return to their home countries equipped with the academic backgrounds, skills, and confidence to become influential leaders.
