Minnesota Life College (MLC) Undergraduate Program teaches the core skills that we believe are essential in being able to live independently within a community. We provide instruction and support on independent living skills, employment skills and social skills using a holistic, strength-based model of education. We serve over 300 individuals who have either learning differences or autism spectrum disorder or who have family members with these disabilities. For the past 17 years, MLC has been perfecting an extremely effective model of transition into adulthood for the individuals that we serve. We provide work readiness training, career development, job training and job placement programs to ensure that our clients are able to get and keep a job that will enable them to support themselves and live

GLC provides support to our employed graduates who need assistance at work or who are looking for the next step in their career. We provide an apartment living experience that includes skill building in the areas of cooking, cleaning, budgeting and transportation. We also provide vocational summer internships to our participants via our corporate partnerships in the community. We feel that the SIP program is an opportunity that will allow us to partner with other organizations and foundations to increase our footprint and touch more lives. independently in our community. We measure our success by the number of clients who are employed and who live independently in the community.

Currently, 93% of our clients have paid employment and 95% are living on their own, outside of their parents' homes, here in the Twin Cities, an additional component of the undergraduate program is our vocational readiness/employment program where we teach our students how to get and keep a job. This ability to live and work independently is the heart of our program. MLC accomplished this by providing students with the skills that are necessary to complete the job search process, obtain employment and demonstrate the behaviors that will help them maintain their employment. Primary topics addressed are: job research, work behaviors, resumes, developing professional references, cover letters, completing applications, interviewing, disability & the workplace

(ADA), work skills/abilities and interests, job search process, employment paperwork and worksite safety. Our vocational team assessments include: vocational interest inventory, the reading & math index 12 (RAI-12) and the career ability placement survey (CAPS) results are combined with job exploration. Activities completed by students to develop job goals directed towards their vocational strengths and the jobs that would be the most appropriate for their level of skill and interests. Our focus is teaching real skills for real life. The undergraduate students live in apartments on our campus, which allows our instructors to teach independent living skills in the type of environment that our students will transition to upon graduation from the program. Additionally, we teach skills ranging from graduation from the program. Additionally, we teach skills ranging from basic cooking, cleaning and organization to budgeting, medication management, transportation and roommate dynamics. Our goal is to ensure that our undergraduates are fully prepared to live independently upon graduation from our program. The training internship experience is an additional component of our vocational training that allows our students the additional value of learning while doing our training. Program partners understand the positive impact the real world experience can provide and the on-site job coaches, provided by MLC staff, help our students interpret their real work experiences in real time each semester. Students are assigned a position at one of our volunteer training sites, where they complete an application and are given an employment interview. In addition to the MLC classes they attend on campus, the students will each spend four days a week, several hours a day, developing various vocational and job-related interpersonal skills.

The executive director's compensation is reviewed and determined annually at the Board of Directors' meeting held in May. This process is led by the Chair of the Board. The executive director's salary is initially set by evaluating both the job duties and responsibilities. Additionally, data from a published salary survey (MCN 2013 study) is used to determine an appropriate salary range for the position with consideration of other multiple factors, including education, experience and fit for the position. The salary is evaluated each year based on both the executive director's and organization's achievement of established goals and objectives. There is a discussion with the full board of directors and then a written and verbal report with new salary information is provided to the executive director.
