Restore Bay Habitat - We supported the research and outreach efforts of the San Francisco Bay Restoration Authority, a regional agency pursuing public funding for wetland restoration. Save The Bay is working with partners to re-establish 100,000 acres of restored tidal marsh habitat around San Francisco Bay, through policy measures and a strong science-based program that enlists volunteers to replant key sites with native vegetation. Our Community-based Restoration Program assists federal, state and local landowners of shoreline parcels to improve vital wetland habitat for endangered species and adapt the shoreline to climate change, including ecotone transition areas at former salt ponds in Hayward and Menlo Park, and at shoreline sites in Corte Madera, Oakland and Palo Alto. Participants engage in hands-on wetland restoration and stewardship activities (continued on Schedule O).

Education and Outreach - Save The Bay provided information on San Francisco Bay and actively engaged the general public and our members to advance our mission, through mail and email communications, social networking, educational events and volunteer opportunities. Thousands of people accessed educational information about the Bay on our web site, and we introduced many individuals and businesses to the Bay through our calendar of events. Our presence in the regional news media remains high, with significant print, radio and television coverage of our work on many issues, and on our education and restoration programs. Interest and participation in the organization continues to grow, with more than 50,000 members and supporters. We continue to upgrade our technology to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of our data management and customer relations, (continued on Schedule O)

Bay Smart Communities - Save The Bay provided information to local and regional residents about threats to fill in more of the bay for development on restorable salt ponds in Redwood City, and on diked historic Baylands in Newark. We provided information to state and federal agencies regarding applicable regulations and policies, including the Federal Clean Water Act, sea level rise and adaptation to climate change. Save The Bays Clean Bay Project helped to reduce Bay pollution from cities and neighborhoods encouraging municipalities throughout the region to adopt pollution prevention best practices. Our work with municipalities significantly reduced distribution of single-use plastic bags and polystyrene food packaging, two of the largest components of trash entering the bay through stormwater. We provided information to regulators regarding cities progress (continued on Schedule O)

Part X FIN48 Footnote	Income TaxesFinancial statement presentation follows the recommendations of ASC 740, Income Taxes Under ASC 740, the Organization is required to report information regarding its exposure to various tax positions taken by the Organization and requires a two-step process that separates recognition from measurement The first step is determining whether a tax position has met the recognition threshold, the second step is measuring a tax position that meets the recognition threshold Management believes that the Organization has adequately evaluated its current tax positions and has concluded that as of September 30, 2016 the Organization does not have any uncertain tax positions for which a reserve or an accrual for a tax liability would be necessary The Organization has received notification from the Internal Revenue Service and the State of California that it qualifies for tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and Section 23701d of the California Revenue and Taxation Code This exemption is subject to periodic review by the federal and state taxing authorities and management is confident that the Organization continues to satisfy all federal and state statutes in order to qualify for continued tax exemption status The Organization receives unrelated business income (sublease rental income) which requires the Organization to file separate tax returns under federal and state statutes Tax liabilities, if any exist, are accrued at the statutory tax rates in effect at the end of the fiscal year
