Part III Statement 1 Exempt Purpose: Justice First is dedicated to educating the public about their rights and remedies for social, racial, economics and political problems that affect the social welfare of individuals, whose neighborhoods and communities. The organization's activities are intended to heighten public awareness about a range of social welfare programs, and the remedies in existence that have been secured by law.

Part III, Line 28 Statement 2 : $26,698

In 2020, Justice First expanded its education efforts to examine the root causes of poverty, inequality and war with the launch of a podcast is available on multiple online streaming services. The podcast, The Socialist Program, airs three times each week and features guests and experts on a wide range of topics that are central to social justice issues and movements. The podcast has an ever-widening listenership with more than 200,000 downloads in its first months.

Part III, Line 29 Statement 3 : $17,061

The Stop Police Terror Project- DC's work at both the community and policy level intensified in 2020. It became deeply involved in mutual aid efforts, directly supported community members who lost loved ones to police violence, and led protests and advocacy efforts opposing police terror. Together with other local organizations SPTP-DC mobilized more than 16,000 DC residents who engaged as part of what would become the Defund MPD coalition. The mutual aid efforts of SPTP-DC support, which include education, food and financial assistance, jail support and outreach to incarcerated community members, have assisted thousands of DC residents.

Part III, Line 30 Statement 4: $9,123

The LinkUp project focused on supporting community-led solutions to gentrification and mass incarceration, and providing avenues for involvement in community organizing work. This took place through events, public advocacy, and development of digital economic justice tools. The number of people affected by its work in 2020 is approximately 500.
