Since 1960, the East-West Center (Center) has a long and proud legacy promoting better relations and understanding among the people and nations of the United States, Asia, and the Pacific through cooperative study, research, and dialogue. The Center serves as a resource for information and analysis on critical issues of common concern, bringing people together to exchange views, build expertise, and develop policy options. As a national, public diplomacy institution, the Center works in partnership with more than 1,000 organizations throughout the United States (U.S.) and in the region. The collaborative research, education, seminars and outreach, and other programs bring together Americans and counterparts from Asia and the Pacific to work in an atmosphere of academic freedom on issues of mutual importance. The Center's exchange and dialogue programs involve multi country, region wide activities involving everyone as full participants. The Center canceled or postponed all in-person events in March 2020 due to COVID-19 and pivoted to webinars and on-line conferences. There were 2,749 participants on award taking part in the Center activities throughout the region. While more information on the Center and its programs may be found at our website (www.EastWestCenter.org), the following is a highlight of the program activities during the year. RESEARCH PROGRAM: The Research Program brings a cross-disciplinary approach to understanding the process of rapid transformation that is occurring in Asia and the Pacific. The Center's collaborative research and capacity-building program aims to promote sustainability, prosperity, equity, and peace in the region. Current research documents how economic, environmental, social, and political change are shaping Asia and the Pacific. Research focuses on changes in climate, land and water use, health, family dynamics, economic roles, and international politics. The Program works with research and policy communities in the US and the Indo-Pacific region to provide more complete knowledge and deeper understanding of environments, societies, economies, governments, and international relations in the region. Capacity building and research to support decision-making are conducted in close collaboration with networks of individuals and institutions throughout Asia and the Pacific and is shared broadly with planners, policymakers, regional specialists, the media, and the general public. During the year, the Program had 210 participants in 5 conferences and workshops including the EWC-KIHASA conference, EWC-KDI Conference, and the 13th Global Meeting of the NTA Network.

The participant's experience is one of grassroots relationship building, cultural exchange, shared experiences, and communal preparation for future leadership roles throughout the region. The Program offers educational opportunities for future leaders in the Asia Pacific region and the U.S. in an era of increased social, economic and technological interdependence. Graduate degree scholarships and certificate programs prepare students and professionals to address the challenges and complexities of the world's most dynamic region. Undergraduate degree scholarships build and strengthen the base of future leaders in the South Pacific. The degree student programs remain central to the Center's mission. The Center's unique environment builds students' capacity to be agents of positive change in their communities, establishes positive relationships between Asia Pacific and the US, and encourages American values such as service, critical thinking and democratic institutions. In FY 2020, there were 462 professional associates, graduate degree students and affiliated scholars living in residence or on scholarship. The Education Program strived to keep students safe and supported during the COVID-19 pandemic and were able to continue their graduate student engagement and exchange at a time when many other international exchange activities were halted.
