4a (Code:) (Expenses $ 1,853,416 including grants of $) (Revenue $)

In 2016, our core services were scaled with NYC public funding through a four-year Demonstration Pilot by developing a system of discharge planning and aftercare supports for the youngest people in NYC custody. We connect with youth shortly after their admission, expedite case processing through court-based advocacy, engage with youth in their neighborhoods post-release, and facilitate connections to supportive networks. In 2019, this Pilot was institutionalized, through a $19M commitment made by the City to replicate components of this work and extend it broadly to all justice-involved populations City-wide. They resulted in recognizing the relevance of individualized and community-based advocacy and building relationships that begin in custody. YJNs integrated programs support young people throughout their incarceration and transition to the community by helping them set and achieve goals to improve their civic and community engagement and to develop positive, healthy ties to their families and broader communities that allow them to contribute to society in meaningful ways. The following are the organizations recent accomplishments for our community-based, education, employment, and health and well-being services. Community Based (Core Services, Mentorship, Court-Advocacy, Books to Jails) YJNs team of advocates and mentors meet with participants in their communities to continue providing supportive services while establishing community ties, fostering prosocial activities and engagement, and supporting positive youth outcomes. The average length of post-release engagement with a youth member is 20 months. YJNs Advocates engaged with 368 unique youth participants across NYC in 2021, making 4,124 engagements with youth members in the community and in custody. Our court advocates worked with attorneys to reduced prison sentences for 78% of participants. Advocates spent approximately 147 hours engaging with youth via video calls. 21 young people participated in YJN arts initiatives, including weekly workshops and community mural projects, for a total of 111 hours. One hundred percent of youth engaged in arts programming are also connected and engaged with YJNs additional advocacy services. On September 22, 2021, after nearly 18 months of being unable to access Rikers Island since the pandemic lockdown, our advocacy staff returned to Rikers. Our Advocacy team has returned as a regular presence inside facilities to provide mentorship, mitigation services, mental health supports, and a shoulder to lean on. Due to the surge of the Omicron outbreak, visitations were stopped in December 2021 and resumed in early February 2022. Launch of Shifting Gears program: a mobile outreach and career center that brings YJNs resources and network of advocates directly into the neighborhood, and works to promote and sustain income stability among justice-involved youth. The bus now drives and parks four days per week in identified NYC neighborhoods to deliver its services and engage youth in the community.

4b (Code:) (Expenses $ 1,526,745 including grants of $) (Revenue $)

Health and Wellbeing: Through a combination of therapeutic and arts-based supports and services, health and well-being services are integrated to address young peoples needs on an individualized basis. Staff worked across programs City-wide to show up for youth and families throughout the pandemic through a combination of professional staff, peer leaders and advocacy staff. Our health and wellbeing team incorporates arts therapy and arts activities, offering therapeutic art sessions to young people in and out of custody living with PTSD, anxiety, grief, and depression. Family Matters supported 127 new families with children in family court. Friends to Fathers enrolled 170 new fathers into the program, working to provide benefits and services and increase parental engagement, responsibility, and financial support in relationship with their child.

4c (Code:) (Expenses $ 738,405 including grants of $) (Revenue $)

Employment: Employment opportunities provide formerly incarcerated youth with critical pathways to economic independence, as well as a sense of purpose and self-worth. YJNs Career Services Center prepares young people for work and provides achievable career pathways to support long-term economic independence among the youngest people released from jail in New York City. Youth members participate in a five-day training program and are then connected to opportunities for paid internships and job placements. In 2021, the Career Services Center worked with 53 unique young people. Eleven of these participants were placed into subsidized paid internships, and 47 were placed into permanent work.

4d Other program services (Describe in Schedule O.)
(Expenses $ 236,803 including grants of $) (Revenue $)

Return Reference	Explanation
Part X : FIN48 Footnote	Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require management to evaluate tax positions taken by Youth Justice Network and recognize a tax liability if Youth Justice Network has taken an uncertain tax position that more likely than not would be sustained upon examination by the Internal Revenue Service. Youth Justice Network is subject to routine audits by taxing jurisdictions; however, there are currently no audits for any tax periods in progress. Management believes it is no longer subject to income tax examinations prior to 2018.

PART I, LINE 1 ORGANIZATION'S MISSION OR MOST SIGNIFICANT ACTIVITIES	(Continued from Page 1) Youth Justice Network (YJN)s mission is to break cycles of incarceration and build an equitable justice system by providing young people with individualized advocacy, mentorship, and opportunities to grow, thrive, and lead.Youth Justice Network, Inc. (Youth Justice Network) (formerly Friends of Island Academy, Inc.) was founded in 1990 to anchor, support and build capacity among young people released from jail in New York City. The organization was created on the school floors of the alternative high school on Rikers Island (Island Academy) in the late 1980s, as mass incarceration was on its upward slope.On December 28, 2020, a Certificate of Amendment to the Certificate of Incorporation was signed by the New York Department of State. This amended the name of Friends of Island Academy, Inc. to Youth Justice Network, Inc. and changed the business address to 63 W 125th Street, 4th Floor, New York, NY 10027.For 32 years, Youth Justice Network has supported young people whose lives intersect with New York Citys jails. Youth Justice Networks model of service breaks cycles of incarceration and promotes an equitable justice system by providing young people with opportunities to grow, thrive, and lead. Through a combination of individualized advocacy, mentorship, and services, their network of advocates develops relationships with young people whose lives intersect with the justice system. Youth Justice Network leverages those relationships together with existing local resources, enabling young people to forge pathways to their wellbeing and positive development.From the first moment Youth Justice Network staff connect with a young person in jail, juvenile custody, court, or in the neighborhood the agency staff remain their committed advocates throughout the justice system and long after. Through its core model of pre- and post-release support, each young person is paired with a Youth Advocate who serves as a mentor, coach, resource navigator, and confidante. Together, they co-create a plan to set goals, navigate barriers, and reduce the likelihood of continued justice system involvement. Advocates provide individual and ongoing mentorship to help young people address trauma and support their health and wellbeing on and off Rikers Island. Many Youth Justice Network staff have lived experience in the justice and/or child welfare systems. As credible messengers, they build trusting relationships and become part of a network of protective factors to support young people upon release.The time immediately after release from jail is critical a majority of young people are released from jails without stable housing or income sources, and need support to stay focused on their newly created goals. Anchored by community hubs in Harlem, Brooklyn, and the Bronx, the organization provides integrated programs for young people and families which are tailored to meet individual needs, including job and career development, family and parenting supports, education, mental health supports, arts and civic engagement.Youth Justice Network has close working relationships with key local public agencies including the New York City Departments of Probation, Correction, Education, and Youth and Community Development as well as the Mayors Office of Criminal Justice and the Citys Administration for Childrens Services and Housing Authority. We work in close partnership with grass roots and neighborhood-based youth serving organizations City- wide and serve as part of key coalitions dedicated to moving justice reform forward. Through all of these collaborations, Youth Justice Network works to ensure that its services have the greatest impact on reducing re-arrest and re-incarceration and sustaining positive youth development.COVID-19 continues to exponentially amplify inequities. The experience of being removed from home and locked up is uniquely damaging for youth, who are in a critical stage of development. Justice-involved youth experience some of the highest levels of trauma and mental illness: even before incarceration, virtually all justice-involved youth have experienced serious trauma during their lifetimes. As a direct result of the COVID-19 pandemic, Youth Justice Network experienced losses in fiscal years 2020 and 2021 and has a cumulative net deficit of $528,623 as of June 30, 2021. These interrelated public funding freezes, delays and cuts during fiscal years 2020 and 2021 resulted in the reported cumulative net deficit. To navigate this period, Youth Justice Network received two Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) loans, both of which were fully forgiven during fiscal year 2022 and will result in a significant cumulative surplus for fiscal year 2022, and reversing the fiscal year 2021 cumulative net deficit. Programmatically, in response to the pandemic, Youth Justice Network has responded by taking preemptive and creative actions to address and redirect the impact of these lived realities. The organization continues to address the real-time, ongoing, and heightened barriers to advancement and self-efficacy for teenagers and emerging adults who continue to cycle through Rikers Island. We launched Shifting Gears™ a mobile advocacy and career services bus that travels and parks City-wide to offer real-time direct supports on the block. Youth Justice Network supports participants in their trajectory through a combination of integrated services and supports, as follows: i. Defender-based Court Advocacy Youth Justice Networks Miller Center for Special Mitigation is a team of dedicated Youth Justice Network staff who provide City-wide case triage, expediting and defender-based advocacy, resulting in releases from custody at different points along the case process (bail, pre-plea, pre-sentence) to minimize lengths of stay in detention, mitigate sentence length, and minimize further penetration into the justice system. ii.
