The National Environmental Law Center (NELC) is a non-profit litigation center founded in 1990 to enforce anti-pollution and environmental protection laws and promote long-term solutions to the nation's pressing environmental problems. NELC attorneys have a proven track record of bringing corporate polluters to justice. NELC works closely with state and local citizen groups, providing essential legal expertise to protect public health and the environment. NELC helps the public to shape and uphold our core environmental laws, serving as a major force in public interest litigation. NELC attorneys carefully monitor compliance with environmental laws and report violations to government agencies. When the government fails to take appropriate action, NELC does, winning court orders that stop illegal emissions and that impose monetary penalties for past violations.
