Legal Advocacy - DREDF represents disabled people and organizations serving people with disabilities on impact cases that further civil rights for people with disabilities. This year, DREDF and co-counsel continued to represent plaintiffs in a federal lawsuit on behalf of people with serious mental health disabilities against Alameda County and Alameda Health System. The lawsuit challenges the Countys failures to provide adequate community-based services to people with serious mental health disabilities causing unnecessarily cycling through jail and other locked institutions.We continued to litigate in the case against the State of California and Pittsburg Unified School District (PUSD) alleging that PUSD has maintained a separate, unequal, and illegal educational system where Black students, children of color with disabilities, and English learners have been segregated in substandard learning environments, excluded from classrooms altogether through the use of unwarranted suspensions and expulsions, and as a result, denied their constitutional right to a public education. We are litigating a case against Moreno Valley Unified School District (MVUSD) for repeatedly handcuffing and restraining a Black disabled student (C.B.). DREDF and co-counsel filed the lawsuit in federal court alleging that MVUSD and Riverside County discriminates against students with disabilities with a demonstrated bias toward Black students in its disciplinary practices.As an IOLTA Support Center, DREDF provided significant legal training, legal technical assistance, and advocacy support to California IOLTA legal services programs on disability civil rights. We conducted statewide trainings for legal aid attorneys on the rights of disabled people, examining common disability access barriers, housing rights, and disabled students educational rights. DREDF regularly files amicus briefs in the appellate courts and the US Supreme Court.

4b (Code:) (Expenses $ 589,318 including grants of $ 21,603) (Revenue $ 40,326)

National Disability Policy and Research - DREDF conducts research, monitors public policy development and provides technical assistance on issues affecting the civil and human rights of people with disabilities and advocates for the rights of people with disabilities.In 2022, much of our policy and research work focused on ensuring that public funding, public policy and legislation developed to address the devastating impact COVID-19 addressed the needs of disabled people and their families. We continued research initiated in 2020 on housing practices that promote affordable, accessible housing and help people with disabilities move from being unhoused or trapped in institutions to homes in the community.International Disability Policy and Research - DREDF participates in the goal of enabling disability rights leaders around the world to work collaboratively in designing and implementing meaningful human rights protections for people with disabilities. In 2022, we made virtual presentations to groups of people in Armenia and Bahrain.Media DREDFs Disability & Media Alliance Project (DMAP) brings together the disability community and the media industry to promote accurate representation of people with disabilities and to eliminate disability stereotypes and misinformation in news, television, films, and other media. In 2022, DMAP continued its reach into journalism.

4c (Code:) (Expenses $ 546,974 including grants of $) (Revenue $)

Children and Family Advocacy - DREDF provides training and technical assistance on the rights of children with disabilities in special education to parents, advocates and professionals. DREDF education advocates provide technical assistance and support to families in 30 counties in Northern California.
