4 Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. 4a (Code:) (Expenses $ 378,814 including grants of $ 0) (Revenue $ 0)

Campaigns: Policies passed at a national level over the past several years provide major new subsidies for the biomass industry. In 2024 we led an effort to stop Enviva from receiving IRA subsidies, organized a tour of wood pellet impacts for 5 federal agencies, met with top officials from CEQ, DOE, and the White House, and cultivated two congressional champions from the South. We continued to play a support role relative to the Cut Carbon Not Forest Campaign in the UK and other campaigns in Europe. We are also part of a coalition working to leverage the EU policy on deforestation to protect Southern forests. Our collective, sustained campaigning in Europe and the UK has tempered the biomass industrys expansion. While the UK and EU markets are still driving wood pellet exports from the US South, markets in Asia - primarily Japan - are driving new expansion of wood pellet production in the Gulf region.

4b (Code:) (Expenses $ 1,525,324 including grants of $ 190,162) (Revenue $ 0)

Organizing: At the state, and local levels, North Carolina continued to be a top priority for our organizing in 2024. Our work coordinating the Impacted Communities Against Wood Pellets continued to achieve results. NCDQA required Enviva to reduce the fugitive dust pollution from its export facility in Wilmington. We launched a new effort demanding that NCDQA require Enviva to do the same at all of its wood pellet mills in North Carolina. We organized a conference in Georgia with 9 organizations attended by over 200 people, Biomass was at the top of the agenda. Thus far, the organizing and legal strategies around the proposed wood pellet mills in Adel, Georgia have led to an indefinite delay in construction. This year we reached out to the community impacted by a wood pellet mill owned by FRAM in Lumber City which planned to expand production. The local opposition combined with a legal strategy resulted in the permit for that expansion being revoked. Over 80 residents in the small town of Gloster showed up to the public hearing to oppose Draxs permit to expand production. Meanwhile, Enviva was denied a local economic development grant in Mississippi, shuttering plans to expand wood pellet production in the state.

4c (Code:) (Expenses $ 326,935 including grants of $ 75,000) (Revenue $ 0)

Conservation: Our work to proactively protect forests through establishing community- owned forests has been focused in the Pee Dee Watershed of South Carolina. Against the backdrop of a culture that has largely accepted the working forest conservation and economic model, Dogwood Alliance and our local partners are charting a new course that puts community-led forest protection at the center of our conservation and rural economic development agenda. This work gained significant momentum in 2024 with the acquisition of 305 acres of wetland forests, including old-growth cypress, on the Little Pee Dee River. In partnership with New Alpha Community Development Corporation, we also initiated the development of a Justice Conservation Fund for Southern Forests and Communities to expand the acquisition of community forests throughout the South in areas impacted by the wood pellet biomass industry.
