Facts And Circumstances Test

Current Year Facts and Circumstances: The Institute for Southern Studies, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit research and media center that exposes injustice, strengthens democracy and builds a community for change in the South. Through research, education, and outreach programs, the Institute draws attention to key trends and issues in the South, the growing importance of the region and innovative work for lasting change. The Institute for Southern Studies, Inc.'s public support percentage for the five-year period ended December 31, 2024, was approximately 33.01%. The Institute for Southern Studies, Inc. maintained a continuous and bona fide program for solicitation of funds from the general public and the community of people interested in supporting the organization's mission of using research, media, and education to promote a more just, democratic and sustainable future in the South. It has relied on funding sources from nonprofit, philanthropic, and corporate grants and donations as well as from individual contributions. Both full time staff members dedicated a portion of their time to fundraising efforts which include identifying prospective funders, reaching out to make connections, submitting grant applications, and considering ways to maintain relationships with existing and potential funders who do work in our field. The scope of fundraising activities was reasonable in light of the Institute for Southern Studies, Inc.'s charitable activities. As presented in Part IX of the Form 990, fundraising expenses were approximately 24% of charitable expenses, with the majority of fundraising costs attributed to salaries and wages. The Institute for Southern Studies Inc, had several large grants in 2024 and also spent time building relationships and identifying funders who weren't private foundations. 2024 public support was approximately 33.01%, which was above the 10% minimum, and was above their 2023 percentage of 31.65% by approximately 1.36%. The reason there was an increase in 2024 was due to a decrease in funding from private foundations as the Institute for Southern Studies, Inc. has increased fundraising solicitation efforts towards individual and non-profit donors and grantors. The Institute for Southern Studies, Inc's support for the five-year period ended December 31, 2024, came from a variety of unrelated individuals, organizations, and foundations. Support in 2024 came from 109 donors: 96 individuals, 9 organizations, and 4 private foundations. The Institute for Southern Studies, Inc. board is comprised of a group of leaders in the fields of journalism, public policy, and communications representing a broad cross-section of the community. The board members are spread throughout the South, representing multiple geographic areas, and cultural backgrounds. The Institute for Southern Studies, Inc. provides services to the general public through research, education, and outreach programs to expose injustice, strengthen democracy, and build community. Social justice is a concern that impacts everyone. The Institute for Southern Studies, Inc. has been an incubator for and sponsor of various social justice programs beginning in 1970. Though there were no active sponsored programs in 2024, Labor South became a sponsored program in 2025 which focuses on labor education, community-based training, and popular organizing. The Institute for Southern Studies has also collaborated with other social organizations to provide research services in the past. Though there were no active contracts in 2024, in 2025 the Institute for Southern Studies Inc. began consulting work for an employee organization to develop and oversee a research team and conduct research related to local workers and the community. The Institute for Southern Studies, Inc. conducted one main program in 2024, which has been continued for over ten years, as presented on Part III of the Form 990. The Research, Reporting, and Education program includes three main components. Facing South online is published reporting and analysis via both the Facing South website and e-newsletter to changemakers in the South and readers throughout the nation. The Democracy Program provides ongoing research and analysis to advocates and policymakers to strengthen Democracy in North Carolina and the South. The Worker's Rights Program provides research and analysis to support worker-led organizations. The Institute for Southern Studies, Inc has received $170,000 over the last five years from two different public charities and all of them required reporting on the quantitative and qualitative accomplishments of the programs funded.
